Editorial and Dedication

Janus am I; oldest of potentates;
Forward I look, and backward, and below
I count, as god of avenues and gates,
The years that through my portals come and go.

—Longfellow, The Poet's Calendar

F the many gods whom the Romans worshipped, one named Janus was Guardian of the Gateways. He was represented as having two faces, one looking to the past, the other to the future. He was also regarded as god of beginnings, and sacrifices were made to him when any new undertakings were planned.

The temple of Janus had two doors, one facing east and the other west, but these doors were open only in times of war. Then the Romans marched their armies through the temple from east to west, hoping in this way to win success in their new campaign.

With these thoughts in mind, we have chosen GATEWAYS as the theme of our yearbook.

We look back happily upon our days in Barringer, but with regret also, as its doors close upon us. Other doors now open before us toward the pathways of the future.

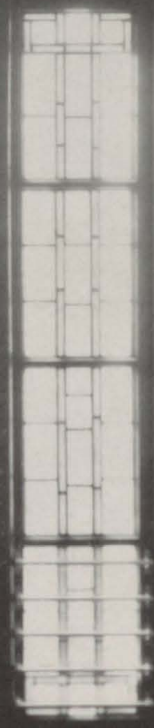

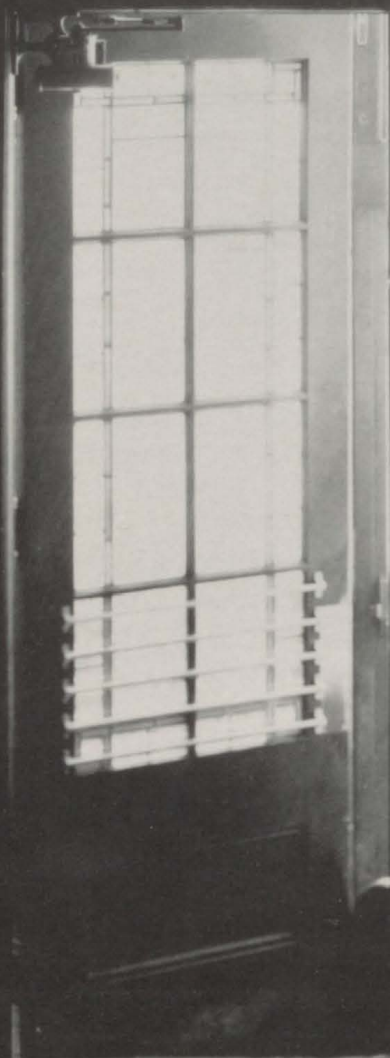

As we engage in new enterprises, we realize that we must meet the challenge of a changing world, no matter who among the warring nations is victorious in the present struggle for supremacy.

To those who have made possible these four happy years and who have helped prepare us for our contributions to the world of the future—to our parents and our school—we gratefully dedicate this book.

WE ASK YOU!

HOW could we have had such attractive decorations at our 4B Dance if there were no Mr. Buchanan? How could we have had the best 4B-4A Reception ever, had it not been for Mrs. Cappel's capable planning and organizing? How could we have a good class song if it were not for Miss Robinson's assistance? How could we march in step and do everything just right on Commencement night were it not for Miss Decker and Miss Robinson? How could we have done our art work had not Mrs. Shirley been so generous with paper and ink and things? How could we have been steered straight and true in our high school course without the guidance of Mr. Greal and his assistants? And finally, how could we be the perfect class that we are, were it not for our advisers and all our other teachers? WE ASK YOU!

CLASS SONG

The joy of life and youth we found
Within these halls,
The echo of our laughter and our song
Still softly falls.

This is our home, this place we love
And hold in revery;
Through years to come it will be ours
To keep in memory.

Beyond these portals we can see
New, deeper ways,
But in our every thought will be
These golden days.

To you we raise triumphant song
Deep from the heart,
As now the gates of years to come
Swing slow apart.

A Backward Look

although the day was wet, the thunder loud and the lightning sharp, a gateway was opened for us in September, 1937, and through it we passed into Barvinger, our faces bright with expectancy and innocence. Soon the Centennial play was in progress it the coming of the new word, "Centennial Practice." glorious phase of our ex- ly came to an end, along successful performance, so did our freshman year, and we were faced with a larger and even more inviting gateway.

With an increase in knowledge we, as sophomores, filed happily through the second gateway. We admit we were a bit disturbed by the hurricane in September which uprooted many trees on our beautiful campus. The remainder of the year passed pleasantly until we learned late in the season that our principal, Mr. Hurley, was soon to leave us. In our moment of regret we peered through the next gateway.

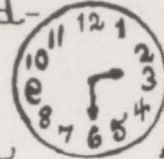

Our junior year proved to be a glorious one, for our five homerooms were now organized into the class of June 1941. We bore the title proudly. In addition we were happy to welcome our new principal, Mr. McGreal.

A bit overjoyed at being seniors, we entered our final year at Barringer. It took a little time to become adjusted to the new schedule, since we now changed to a school day ending at two-thirty.

Our Varsity Hop was one of the sensations of Barringer this year. It was held on the eve of the Thanksgiving Day game. Barringer and East Orange cheer-leaders were present, as well as our Blue and White Football Team. The next great event was the 4B-4A Reception. A hilarious eleventh-hour debate on the subject was held in the auditorium, where Mr. McKeel presided, and allowed anyone who wished, to speak his piece. However on the night appointed, the gym was ready. We were all in our best bibs and tuckers, and a gala night it proved to be.

Along with these major activities, matinee dances, basket-ball games, spring athletics, club and year-book meetings kept us whirling dizzily through the days as we approached the final great events of Class Day and Commencement.

Yours truly,
June Forty-Wonders

Will They Forget?

Today I roam upon the wind-tossed hills,
And listen to the whisperings of the grass.
Tomorrow must I lie beneath the ground,
Unmindful of the fleeting joys that pass?

Today I walk with springing step and free;
I wander with the wandering leaves.
Tomorrow shall I be as cold as they,
And lie forgotten 'neath the barren trees?

No—forever will I live, while on and on
My heart will roam upon this hill;
The world may never think of me again,
But all the whispering trees and grasses will.

Dawn

As the gray streaked sky becomes bright,
As the mist begins to rise,
Birds awake to sing and play.
The dawn is beginning to break.
Slowly, so slowly, the sunbeams brighten
The sleepy world.
The sun has come to wake the drowsy,
Wake them from a peaceful sleep.
For it is morning,
And another day has begun.

Night

The moon is dripping light
Shedding a soft glow on silvery stairs
Connecting sky and earth;
It moves silently across the heaven
A faint whisper floats on the scented night breeze
Angles glide gently
Up the musical stairway,
To the star laden sky

RHEVA HOLZMAN

Black and White

A faint gleam of light through the whispering trees,
The soft scent of flowers and the sun's golden glow,
It fell from the sky on the oft, singing breeze,
And someone was happy on earth far below.

A black shadow crept from the shades of the night,
Into the cold hard light of the moon;
It took laughter, joy and delight,
As it crept from the earth with the wind's sobbing tune.

City

The rain drips softly from the trees,
The leaves are wet beneath my feet,
The air is damp with the soft night breeze—
Which wanders down the lonely street.

No stars come out to herald the moon,
Only the lights of the city glow;
A distant plane hums a lonely tune,
Leaving an empty silence below.

The cold has frozen the cricket's voice,
The birds have drifted off to sleep;
Only the wind moans restlessly,
In the solitude of the dark, wet street

ELIZABETH TERVALT

CELEBRITIES

As we leave these hallowed rooms,
Our haggard faces wrapt in glooms,
Let's pause before the final hour
And with this "poetry" plenty sour
Devote our minds to looking back
Along that well-beaten track
Of memories.

Let us take the officers first,
We can really rib them "worst."
Things that they have done these years
Have filled poor Sidney's eyes with tears,
His temples are gray, his back is bent,
The flower of his youth he's spent—
Upon them.

Pres Marzulli, sword in hand,
Like Horatio has made his stand;
Defying all our maidens fair
To pluck one lock of his curly hair;
Carrying on in his "bashful" way
With hardly ever a word to say—
To anyone.

Li'l Mildred, diminutive lass,
Makes up for her size with plenty of class;
And "Sugar" Parsons has filled many a room
With the sickening scent of her odorous perfume.
We'll have to say these femmes have worked
And never have they their duties shirked—
At all.

But Treasurer Windle's another story;
We certainly can't give him much glory.
We're afraid that as a mathematician
He's really quite a good musician;
As an actor he thinks he's just a grand slam,
But personally we think he's only a ham—
At heart.

Editor Jones, the Barringer "sharp,"
Upon him now we'd like to harp.
He rushes around from place to place
With a look of importance all over his face;
He gives all the girls a wink and a smile,
And thinks they're looking at him all the while.
We don't.

And then there's Allaire, the gal with the brains;
In writing about her we take plenty of pains.
We couldn't bear it if she should find
A mistake, and give us a piece of her mind;
'Cause really wouldn't it be awful sad
If we took the last piece she had—
To spare.

And now before we rouse his ire
Let's not forget our little Meier,
Who is usually found doing nothing less
Than battling with Garvin over a game of chess,
Or possibly playing upon his flute.
He thinks we like to hear him toot—
That thing.

Do we feel the wind give an awful blow?
Oh that's no wind! That's Errico,
Dodging the clutches of 'Slim' Shustak
With that horrible camera slung over his back.
And by the way, where in tarnation
Does Epstien get that awful creation
He wears?

Then there's the Mickey Mouse of Barringer's Halls
Who comes a-runnin' whenever "she" calls.
Hen-pecked Pinkman is his name;
We say to him, "For shame, for shame,"
For a guy to be so meek and mild.
It really gets our tempers riled—
At him.

Wherever things have started to pop
You'll find "Giggling" Gertie and "Happy" Hopp.
The things that they do are certainly "drippy"
And oh, how they worry poor Mr. Lippe!
Like a couple of magpies they shout and they chatter
But the things that they say really don't matter—
At all.

Ryan and Dieck, those happy boys,
About them now, we'll make some noise.
In solid or trig, Dieck's out on his own,
But keep him away from that awful trombone.
And Orator Ryan, that hairless wonder,
His voice reverbrates like thunder—
It cracks.

Crooner Quigley, the Barrington Bing
Where did he get the idea he could sing?
Be careful and don't let him get you alone
Or into your ear, he'll sigh and he'll groan,
Like classy Cadmus, the sheik of our school,
Who with padded shoulders no one does fool—
But himself.

Now our review has come to the end
And out into the world we send
This little group, to make their way.
Oh, let no trials their hearts dismay.
If their past is a testament of things to come.
We're sure they'll make this old world hum.
So long

JOHN MARZULLI

Specializing only in fencing, Johnny built up quite a grand record for himself and Barringer. Being a member of the state championship team in 1939, he received a wreath "B" and a silver pin. Also a member of the team which won the state and national title, John has a right to be proud of his fencing ability. Climaxing his fencing career in the 1940-'41 season, he was elected co-captain of the squad.

ROCCO FERAVALA

Making his debut as a fencer in 1938, "Rocky" earned a "B-2" and a first team birth for 1939. Receiving a wreath "B" and a silver pin for his fencing feats in '39, he captured many bouts for the Big Blue. 1940 was the big year for Rocco. In that year he won the national and state championships and was made co-captain of the team.

JOHN HADAM

Johnny came out for the baseball team as a sophomore in '39. He had a very successful year on the junior varsity, batting .383 and winning three while dropping none as a pitcher. When the next season rolled around, John, with a little more experience, made the varsity quite easily, alternating between right field and the pitcher's box. For his services on the diamond John leaves Barringer with one "B-2" and two major letters.

CHARLES TURNER

Charlie's baseball career started in 1939, when he played on the second team. In that year, Mr. Commisa, then coach of baseball, took quite an interest in Charlie as the future second baseman of Barringer. In 1940, because of an accident, he was out of action for several games, but in the latter part of the season, Charles came through in fine style. This year he has turned in many good games at the keystone sack.

HARRY SMITH

Harry is one of our most versatile athletes! Playing football, baseball, and participating in track, Harry has won renown in Barringer. In baseball, Harry has shown much finesse on the pitcher's mound and this year he was captain of the varsity squad. Football is another sport in which Harry has shown much skill! In '38 he had his first taste of varsity competition. While in track, Harry was on the half-mile relay team, which won the city championship in '37.

JOSEPH GUARINO

In '38 and '39, Joe went out for baseball and in both years, Joe had a bit of hard luck. A bad appendix was the cause of his misfortune in 1939. '1940 rolled around, and Joe was given an alternating position in the outfield on the varsity. This season Joe finally made the grade, thus earning his major "B".

ALLAN WARDEN

After three years of playing tennis, Allan graduates from Barringer with two minor "B"s and a major one. Playing in earnest since 1939, he ended his tennis career this season by earning his major "B".

ERNEST INGRAM

Ernie's graduation leaves a tremendous gap in the track and cross-country teams. Coming out for track in '39 he started his career with a bang, breaking the 440-yard record in the Board of Education meet at 51:7. Victories at Philadelphia, Princeton, Montclair, and Long Branch, all added to his ever growing string of triumphs. Being elected captain in '41, Ernest still continued his sizzling pace on the track, as well as in the record books.

WILLIAM PHILLIPS

With Bill's graduation, another star is leaving the halls of Barringer. Bill was a member of the track and cross-country teams. In track he runs anything from a 440 to the mile run. As for his standing on the cross-country squad, Bill is tops. He has led the pack over the line in every race except two this last season, and even then he reached second place.

WILLIAM D'AMICO

William started cross-country in 1938. Running in all the dual meets, he was selected to run in the city, state, and national meets. During that year, Barringer won the city championship and also a cup for being victorious in the national meet. During his cross-country career, William received two gold track shoes and two major "B's."

ROLAND MIGNONE

At the start of his track life in his sophomore year, Roland placed first in the junior broad jump and captured third place in the junior half mile run, in the city meet, thus earning his major "B" in his second year at Barringer.

JACK DAWKINS

Smashing the ball over the net for Barringer since 1937, Jack worked his way up to the top, to be top man on the varsity team in 1938. During '39 and '40, Jack kept his position, and for his excellent playing he leaves Barringer with four major "B's".

GENE CADMUS

Wielding a tennis racket for Barringer team since 1938, Gene has played varsity tennis for three years. During his life on the tennis court, Gene has gathered for himself four major letters. Bringing his sport life to a close, Gene was made captain of the 1941 tennis squad.

HARRY WHEELER

Starting to play football in '38, Harry played two years of varsity and one year of freshman ball. Harry, while on the varsity team, played a consistent game as quarterback. 1938 was also the start of Harry's track career. During his stay at Barringer, Harry has earned two major "Bs" and two minor ones.

Tomorrow Is Yours

One of the rare privileges accorded to youth is that he may plan ahead. His future is an unexplored era of possibilities.

And what a youth accomplishes depends largely on himself . . . that is what makes the right sort of preparation most important.

Watch the leaders among men and recall the words of the immortal Patrick Henry:

"I have but one lamp by which my feet are guided, and that is the lamp of experience."
